Morris Gets Third Mistrial Verdict

The following program will be the schedule of the day.

Conference in gym of school, 11:30 a. m.

Rosary at Shrine, 12:15 noon.

Meditation and confession, 2:30 p. m.

Conference in Our Lady of the Gulf Church, 2:00 p. m.

Conference in Church, 3:30 p. m.

Benediction, 4:00 p. m.

All young ladies and women of this Parish are invited to attend.

At 11:00 a. m. today no bond had been set by Judge Leslie Grant for Dale Morris, as no request has been made for bond by the defense.

When interviewed, this morning, Defense Counsel, Cornelius Ledner, said the defense had not decided what course of action will be taken by them.

When a mistrial for the third time was declared by Judge Grant Saturday night about three minutes before midnight, Morris was returned to Harrison County Jail, Gulfport where he has been held for the past year.

For the third time in a year, Dale Morris, accused murderer, faced Judge Leslie B. Grant, listening as the judge pronounced a mistrial in the case of the state for the slaying of Charles Flink, on the night of November 22, 1955.

The jury returned a few minutes before midnight Saturday, March 23, for the second time after filing from the overcrowded courtroom at 5:30 p. m. on the same day, at which time the defense and prosecution completed their arguments.

The trial, which started Monday, November 18, with the subpoenaing of men for jury duty, actually got under way Wednesday morning.

Beginning rather apathetically with a half empty courtroom, in comparison with the overcrowded throngs of the first and second trials, the momentum and intensity steadily increased with each dramatic hour. By nightfall on Wednesday the crowds had filled the courtroom, overflowing into the corridors and up and down the stairs. Locked doors to the courtroom kept late comers out, but they remained close to the scene of the drama hungry for information. Recess periods failed to see empty seats with the knowledge that once vacated they could not be reclaimed, and some one else would slip into the coveted spot.

The trial was a battle of attorneys. Much new evidence was introduced by District Attorney Boyce Holleman, with a number of new witnesses brought to the stand. Holleman pinpointed the time of the murder with several witnesses taking the stand to testify on this point.

The defense presented only three witnesses. Morris took the stand and was kept under questioning and cross examination for close to four hours. Mrs. Delores Chambers witness for the defense was excused from taking the stand, although she had been brought to the courthouse to testify, due to the fact that she expects a baby in the next week or two. Judge Grant permitted her testimony from the last trial to be read.

Former New Orleans Police Superintendent Ray Scheuring was the last witness for the defense.

Holleman recalled a number of rebuttal witnesses and also introduced several new witnesses. The prosecution was denied a motion by Judge Grant to bring before the jury past records in which the accused had been involved in several crimes for a period of fifteen years. The court also denied military records of the accused to be used at this trial. Judge Grant had permitted the service records of Morris admitted in the second trial. Morris had been court-martialed twice for desertion from the Marine Corps during World War II. He was given a five-year penitentiary sentence for the second offense.

Filing from the court room at 5:30 p. m. after four days and nights listening to witness after witness, and to a four hour argument by the attorneys the jury (Continued On Page Five)

RAT POISONING CAMPAIGN PLANNED

The Mayor and city officials of Bay St. Louis are sponsoring a rat poisoning campaign on April 2, 3, and 4th, which will be supervised by M. M. Price, district inspector of the State Plant Board and representatives of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, from State College. Representatives of the State and County Boards of Health, will also be present to assist in the campaign.

This year, Warfarin, the new rodenticide is being used in the campaign. This material is an anti-coagulant and after the rats and mice have eaten it for several days, they bleed to death internally. The bait being used consists of Warfarin and yellow corn meal. This bait is relatively harmless to domestic animals, according to Plant Board personnel, unless they should eat it regularly for at least three days and in large quantities. Care is being taken in putting it where dogs, cats and chickens cannot get to it.

In addition to the Warfarin baited squill bait may be used in the business district for a quick kill if the rat population is large.

All residences and business houses will be visited by the bait crews on the dates mentioned above. Citizens are requested to assist the crews by showing them places where rats have been noticed on their properties. If they plan to be away from home on the campaign dates they are urged to unlock out-buildings which harbor rats.

It is important that all of our people aid us in the program and make it a success. This program has been arranged by the City Officials at no cost to the property owners.

WANDERINGS

by
GEORGETTE B. HALL

WOOL OR LAMBS MUST BE MARKED BY MARCH 31, 1937

Mr. Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of Hancock County ASC County Committee, states that wool or lambs must be marked not later than March 31, 1937, to be eligible for payments under the 1936 program. The 1935 marketing year began on April 1, 1935, and ends March 31, 1937.

He explained that under wool program regulations "completion of marketing" means that the title of wool or lambs must have passed from the seller to the buyer. If there is any detail of the sale (such as weighing or results of core testing for shrinkage) which is not settled until after March 31, the sale will be considered as a transaction during the 1937 marketing year. This means that wool must either be actually delivered or transferred through documents not later than March 31 to be eligible for payments under the 1936 program. This can be accomplished only after all factors needed to determine net sales proceeds (such as price per pound, weight, and yield) are known.

The payment rates are determined on the basis of average prices received for wool sold during the 1935 marketing year. Payments under the 1936 program will be made this summer. Any marketings after March 31, will be eligible for 1937 program payments to be made in the summer of 1938.

Students of the seventh and eighth grades, taught by Miss Mary Perkins, displayed beautiful collections of birds and bird life. Color prints of birds displayed on white backgrounds and booklets on bird life added to the other interesting things which Miss Perkins pupils had done. Carrying out the theme of "Birds," Mrs. Howard Adams of the Lorraine Flower Shop, donated an exquisite "Bird of Paradise," a rare plant which only blooms every five years. The flower itself looks like a bird's wing, with golden and purple feathers. Booklets on trees, new maps, health charts, and many other interesting pamphlets were on display here.

The faculty and students of the Waveland School are to be complimented on the work which went into making Waveland's Open House an afternoon to be remembered.

Little planes, big planes, yesterday's planes and today's planes, were all on view in the classroom of Mrs. Effie Mazarakis, who teaches students of the fifth and sixth grades. "Aviation through the Years" was the theme here. A table of various kinds of planes made by the students held great interest for visitors. Another table displayed a miniature air field with men of the air corps, planes, hangers, etc. The motto of this project was "We never brother, "Buck" Price, had with him while in the Marine Corps overseas. One of Buck's friends now is on view in the classroom. Young Dobbie has since been a polio victim, but is well on the way to recovery.

"The Termites" and the "Boll Weevils" are battling it out at Bay High School to see which team can sell the most subscriptions to popular magazines. Proceeds from this campaign will go to the band department at Bay High which is under the direction of Mr. Marcel

Nearly everybody in Waveland knows "Murphy." Sounds like the title of a song, doesn't it? Well, if you don't know "Murphy," you surely have seen him. He is the big, tuffy colored, shaggy dog that lives "up and down" Waveland Avenue. Most of the time you can find him lying in the middle of the road, sleeping, or dozing, or just surveying the woods in all of his canine independence. Motorists have to move to the side, "Murphy" never does. Recently, "Murphy" and his Mrs., a small black dog, became the

Because Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jackson have been moving them kind to the "Murphy" a small dog, natural for the people of Waveland. Last week, we learned that the dog had found a home and that the Jacksons were looking for a home for the three other little girl dogs that would make any child a devoted pet.

This column has found a home for adopted cats and puppies before, and we thought that this story would have a happy ending also. But, alas, on Monday Mrs. Jackson called and said that on Saturday during the heavy rain she had lost her puppy and the puppy was gone and she was going to feed them all four were going. Somewhere in Waveland, "Murphy" and his little girl, and definitely someone are waiting our readers to be on the look-out for three small black puppies about eight weeks old. They may or may not be accompanied by their mother. As for "Murphy," now that the weather is pleasant once again, he's probably snoozing in the middle of Waveland Avenue.

Economy is the axe that should be applied to the other fellow's expenditures.

First and second grade pupils of Miss Mary Margaret Turcotte selected as their project for this play, "Health." These little folks had booklets with cut out pictures representing topics of health—what to eat, what to drink, and wear. Cleanliness was stressed. Tooth paste and tooth brushes were in evidence. Miss Turcotte's class also had on display a miniature ranch type house, furnished completely, with a patio for relaxation complete with chaise lounge and chairs.

"Chinese Life" was the theme of the pupils of the third and fourth grades taught by Miss Cecile Turcotte. Visitors were particularly impressed with the authenticity of the gifts and trinkets which added such a genuine touch of the Orient to the room. The genuineness of the articles presents another interesting story. While overseas during World War II, Mr. Sidney Bourgeois of Waveland, sent them to his wife and little girl, "Aggie." "Aggie" loaned them to her aunt, Miss Turcotte for the display. There were also sandals made of straw, trays, bowls with chop sticks, pretty scarves, purses, a lovely Chinese fan, statues of Chinese natives, and many other delicate and lovely objects. This project was instructive and ornamental.

Weather over the weekend was not so hot with plenty of rain and change to cold. Fishing about the same.

Local fight fans have already purchased 14 advanced tickets to the Dupas-Martinez bout in New Orleans on April 8. This group hardly ever miss a Dupas fight.

News has it that Ray Kidd will manage Bayou Caddy Fishing Camp at the south end of the seawall at Bayou Caddy. The place is being renovated and will be ready soon to serve the general public. Good luck, Ray.

With little news about fishing and fishermen etc., Kantcha Ketchum is publishing an article by "Doc" Shipp, which we think you will enjoy.

Hancock County is a fisherman's paradise. All varieties of the finny tribe can be hooked here some with scales and some without. Some like to fish in the slow moving clear waters of the estuaries, others like to fish in the briny gulf. It is interesting to observe both the expert and the novice. Each has the same desire and anticipation. Fishing tests the endurance and patience of mankind. Here on the water is like as the fact. The green pastures are on the other side, the far away place where the fish population has not been reduced by over-fishing. It is amusing to think of a fellow who has been fishing at a certain spot, how he will guard his secret by sending an inquiring friend to the farthest place away to guard his place for his own pleasure. There is nothing to this line of reasoning for fish, like people, have a habit of moving from place to place. Fish are always on the move looking for food, the secret is to find their feeding places. Here patience is a virtue. Fish have sorry hearing organs but don't test that by slamming the anchor or a paddle against the side of the boat. The experienced fisherman avoids noises and certainly running conversations, but he has to put up with recitations of marvelous stories from the fellow paddling the boat about how many he and the preacher caught last week and it wasn't even a good day for fishing. Of all white lies, fishing stories are the worst. Maybe St. Peter has made allowances for that and won't put an X against his record for the exaggeration that's just the exuberance left over from youth. It always makes a yarn sound better to stretch it a little. The moral is to always keep your take in the bounds of reason or as Herb Shriner would say, it's possible.

Chancery Court of said County, hereby certify that the foregoing instrument of writing was filed in my office for record on the 15th day of February, 1957, at 9:40 o'clock and duly recorded in Record of Corporation, Book No. 3, Page 1-7.

Does a fish suffer pain on being hooked, certainly it does, the fish has a very well developed nervous system. What if this thing throw a hook, baited with a biscuit, on the bank and the man be pulled under the surface to suffocate for lack of oxygen. The hooked fish is not under any general anesthesia and in corporal suffering feels a pang as great as when a giant dies.

Man never loses his desire to fish. Bad luck never dampens his hope. It makes no difference whether the finny member of the fishy tribe is tiny and only able to nibble or steal his bait or strong enough to break his pole or tear his real apart. He comes back with a fresh supply of bait and a brand new pole and line and a rekindled desire to do it all over again. Nothing chills his want to sit and meditate while waiting for a big one to give him his thrill. Does his hunger or appetite urge him on, certainly not, he could do much better in the wet feet and exhausted physical energy. The only thing he salivates is an acute exaggerated mental picture of what might have happened in the realm of luck and a determined attitude to give the whole thing another try. Yes sirree, I'll get a whopper next time.

A one-track mind is not a real handicap if you are sure you are on the right track.
